

Golden Rams—

Open Here Friday Nite 8:15
With Strong Lake Weir's 11

With more speed, an improved offense, but short on reserves and experience the Golden Rams of Belle Glade (tangle with a central Florida power in high school football team of Lake Weir at 8:15 Friday night.

Coach Jim Maynor's Golden Rams open the season against Lake Weir tomorrow night, Friday, Sept. 15, with what will be the smallest starting backfield in the State.

They will open with quarterback DeWight Ward at 128; a good halfback in Johnny Bass at 135; full back De D. Mills at 150; and R. H. Tommy Bass at 130. 160 pound Bobby Stratton could get the nod over Tommy Bass, the letterman defensive Martin, 170 lb., end, plus 180. The line will be made up of new faces from last year, except for co-captains Robert Rabara, a 202 lb. tackle, and Ken halfback.

Coach Jim Maynor feels that his squad is thin numerically and short on experience, but long on desire, and they are well conditioned, and are willing to take on any ball club around.

Bill Burke has a problem at Guard. Transfer Frank Pritchard at 165 seems set at one, while Barney Bozeman (185) and R. H. Tommy Bass (180) are hustling for the other.

Cane Seed Available
For Co-op Members

Billy Rogers, as Chairman of the Committee, announced to a called meeting of the Coop's growers at the school house on Monday night, that those who had indicated a desire to purchase cane seed are given an opportunity to do so through arrangements made with a cane grower in the Glades.

Growers have until Friday morning to sign a contract for the seed needed, which has been described as "fussily good."

The demand for seed cane in the Glades for immediate and early fall planting is heavy, and this effort on the part of the Co-op for its members is appreciated," said one grower.

In Every Back Yard? — "No," Says Sociologist!

A fallout shelter in every backyard is not the answer to an adequate civil defense program, according to a researcher who has spent more than ten years studying disaster behavior.

Long before the current public interest in shelters, spurred by President Kennedy's expanded civil defense program, sociologist Charles E. Fritz was advocating a large scale expansion of the C. D. program.

But not toward the goal of a shelter in every back yard.

"Community and neighborhood shelters—not family shelters, and not pure mass shelters—should receive major priority in a national Charles E. Fritz—a sociologist and associate professor in the Department of Psychology, University of Florida College of Medicine, Fritz said that a shelter is a nationally recognized requirement during the following nuclear bombing attack."

Contented Elsie-The Steer — The Hen
Furnish Food As Buffer For Fallout

The barnyard population of the cow, the beef animal and the hen—have generally been relegated to the taken-for-granted realm of in-line production in this mechanical age, but NOW they're anti-Nikita, too, according to Dr. George K. Davis, famed University of Florida animal nutrition expert, and director of Nuclear Activities.

After lengthy research the doctor is convinced that milk is a good buffer between us and dangerous radioactive isotopes accumulated in the human body following nuclear exposures.

What's more, he announced this week, a diet of milk, meat and eggs "washes out" and reduces the amount of strontium-90 the body accumulates from fallout.

Relief Funds For Carla Victims

The County Chapter of the Red Cross has received a wire from National announcing a drive for funds to assist the more than 150,000 persons being sheltered and fed by the Red Cross in the Texas-Louisiana area affected by hurricane Carla.

Some checks have been received at the West Palm Beach office already.

You may send your donation to the Red Cross, West Palm Beach, or leave them at THE HERALD FOR RED CROSS.

Elementary School Enrollment Reaches All-Time High

Belle Glade Elementary School ended its first full day Tuesday, Sept. 5 with 831 pupils registered in the first six grades, making an all-time high for the beginning week. Principal Carl Crawford announced this exceeds last year's enrollment for the first day by 51 students and a much higher enrollment is expected in the following weeks. Three additional teacher units have been added, the need based on the average daily attendance of last year.

Many changes and improvements have been made in order to utilize more efficiently and effectively the audio-visual aids. Necessary alterations have been completed for centralizing these materials through the library. Additional outlets installed during the summer in individual classrooms aid in optimum use of this equipment.

Through the N. D. E. A. the school has been able to purchase necessary equipment and materials to initiate a more meaningful and effective program in science and arithmetic.

Cafeteria Improvement
A complete change has been instituted in the handling of lunch room monies. This new plan will save each year approximately twelve teaching hours, or two days per class for the children. Lunch tickets for a week or month are being sold each morning from 8:00 to 8:30.

Parents are urged to cooperate with their children in seeing to it that tickets are not lost or misused when needed as no plan is made for charging.

Teaching Staff
In having the most fortunate of a helping teacher in this area, Mrs. Kathryn Cunningham has been released from the Pahokee Elementary School and has taken over this position. Principal Crawford states the services of the helping teacher will be of great assistance to beginning teachers and teachers coming to this county for the first time.

Reception Welcomed 20 New Teachers; Problems Encountered In Dividing PTA

The Belle Glade PTA welcomed 20 new teachers Monday night at the first meeting of the school year, with President D. W. Fisher presiding.

Principal Carl Crawford of the Elementary School, introduced his faculty for the year of 29 teachers including nine new teachers, plus librarian and music teacher, making a total of 31 teachers for 843 students.

Principal Pellon Morris of the High School stated 35 teachers including 11 new teachers were on the staff with 1,000 students.

One of the main topics discussed was the division of the PTA into two sections: one for the Elementary School and one for the Junior and Senior High Schools. This would create a number of problems if it was carried out this school term, as new officers would have to be elected and new committees appointed. A new set of by-laws would have to be drawn up and approved by the National PTA and an agreement on the Hallway Carnival made at to whether to give it jointly or separately.

The Executive Board of the PTA due to these problems, gave the following recommendation: That a committee be appointed.

Miss Sara Lee Creech, chairman of Glades Cooperative Education Fund, gave a full report to the club concerning the scholarship fund, followed by a discussion. The matter was tabled until the next meeting.

Other business was discussed and the treasurer's report presented.

Others attending were Audrey Jones, Mrs. Gladys Jones, Mrs. Milton Barry, Mrs. Rosa Nash, Mrs. Margaret Mosley, Mrs. Jo Hayes, Mrs. Jesse Cherry, Mrs. Corinne Thirteenth, Mrs. Imogene Goodlett, Mrs. Jean Helvenston, Miss Gloria Crosby, Mrs. Letha Beeks and Mrs. Kathleen Livingston.

TODAY'S Meditation

Chapel Super Room

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. (Luke 11:9).

The man who is satisfied with his life and the world about him rarely prays. But when adversity overtakes him, in his extremity he turns to the Lord, who is standing at the door of every heart. He will hear the cry of his penitent soul. When the door is opened, the life of the penitent man will be flooded with light.

Prayer takes man's fear and replaces it with confidence. Fuller life thus comes, for by prayer we can re-establish a lost communion with God.

From a missionary, threatened by death in China, prayer removed a terrible fear and helplessness. Despair was replaced by a calm peacefulness. He said afterwards: "My own will had failed in the most critical moment of my life. But knowledge that I could depend on a power greater than my own sustained me in a wonderful way."

He rapidly outdistanced his fears and gained his former sense of hope.

PRAYER: O God, we are conscious of our own inadequacy, especially in the face of trouble. We pray that at such times Thy presence may be very real in our lives. Shine the light of truth into our darkened lives so that we may have complete assurance; through our Lord, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Our lives are incomplete unless we are in constant communion with God.

Angus W. Muir (Australia)

Local Girls Return From Working In North

Three girls, Joyce Cain of Lake Harbor, Doris Binkley and Ann Murray have recently returned from Windsor, Conn., where they worked for six weeks for the Shade Tobacco Co.

On the way up the girls stopped in Washington, D. C. where Miss Murray had a brief visit with her sister Miss Jane Dougherty, whom she had not seen for 11 years.

The girls said the work was interesting and most of the time they sewed tobacco leaves, 24 to a lathe, which was then hung up ready for curing. Up at 5:45 a.m. each morning it was a little nippy for girls from Florida, but it warmed up during the day. The day's work was concluded at 4:30 p.m.

The company took them on a planned tour in New York City, where they visited Rockefeller Center, United Nations, saw the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Bldg., tour of China Town Cathedral of St. Johns. They also got lost in the subway.

Uncle Dan From Democrat River

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store didn't get nothing solved Saturday night on account of Zeke Grubb's preacher come by afore they got started good. The Parson allowed as how this was the night for the regular monthly meeting of the Light Committee but the had to call it off on account of Katie Hightower took sick. He said Katie was named this year to pull the main switch and you couldn't have no meeting of the Light Committee with the main switch puller absent. Anyhow, he said, he was glad to get the night off to rest up from the congregation he had to sing they had Friday night. He claimed things were real good Friday night. The choir director served notice she was going to quit if they didn't keep them full voices out of the choir. It was voted to keep 'em out, but the Parson said they'd have to appoint another committee to figure out how to do it.

Then Ellie Sanders got up and allowed as how they ought to have the choir sing before she said Ellie was sorter heavy-toned and sung the same way and done a powerful job of moving the congregation with her solos. He said one Sunday when he got through with her special everybody in the church clapped. By the way the meeting went, the Parson said he was expecting a heap of solos by Ellie from now on.

One member brung up the complaint that the choir loft was so hot in the summer that he couldn't sing good. The Parson said this fellow couldn't carry a tune in a bucket and read of the choir had to sing real loud so the congregation couldn't hear him, even in the winter time when he wasn't suffering from the heat. But it was voted, the Parson said, to ask the congregation to appoint an air conditioning committee to look into the matter for next summer.

The Parson said that personal he was agin putting any air conditioning in the church, said he was having it hard enough making it hot for sinners like he was. Anyhow, he claimed, he wasn't no vacant time left in the church for the Air Conditioning Committee to meet unless they wanted to meet joint with the Stove Committee and the Stove Committee was already over lapping into time allotted to the Fund Raising Committee.

All the fellers enjoys having the Parson drop by on Saturday night. Ed Doolittle invited him to set a while longer but he said he had to get on home and sing a little sermon to 80 with the music Sunday morning, somepun that would go good with one of Ellie's solos.

Traffic Bureau Wins In Size-Change Protest
Last June, the truckers, thru their Rule-Making Committee, The National Classification Board, proposed to reduce the size of packages which would be hauled free by truck drivers from 500 pounds to 100 pounds. This proposed change would cause shippers and receivers pay an additional $3.50 per hour for extra help which the carrier would furnish upon request, if the package weight was more than 100 pounds.

The local Traffic Bureau filed an objection to this change and was successful in obtaining a recommendation of disapproval.

1185 Cattle Sold For $106,533.88

Monday sales at Glades Livestock Market sold 1185 cattle for $106,533.88. Compared to last week's slaughter steers was steady, heifers and bulls steady to 50 cents lower, calves steady to $1.00 higher. Stocker steers were steady, heifers steady to $2.00 lower, cows steady to $1.00 lower, calves unevenly steady.

43 per cent went to slaughter, 57 per cent to stocker, 82 per cent of the run was cows and 72 percent. Cattle slaughter in Florida through July of 1981 was 207,500 and in 1980 the figure was 187,500. Calf slaughter was 114,000 in 1981 and 83,600 in 1980. For the nation the cattle slaughtered for the period exceeded 1980 by 3 percent and the calf slaughter was down 3 percent. It is remarkable that prices have held so well in Florida.

In the reasonably near future we can expect regular reports on the significance of such figures through an arrangement that has been worked out with the Florida State Cattlemen's Association and the Florida Department of Agriculture.

The joint efforts of the Florida Markets with holding feeders call sales this year has been uniformly successful. Arrangements are now being made to improve these sales next year.

Major Victor Green Speaks To Lions

For several years he was Assistant Director of the Disaster Research Group, National Academy of Sciences, National Research Council and also Associate Director of the Disaster Project, National Opinion Research Center, University of Chicago. In this capacity he led the team which conducted the study of disaster-stricken areas immediately following tornadoes, hurricanes, floods, and explosions. The teams conducted detailed studies of the behavior of the survivors of such disasters.

In an interview he explained his belief that family shelters would lead to widespread feelings of isolation and abandonment. Millions of small, scattered sheltered groups would remain following an attack. Only people — not a well-organized society — would survive, he believes.

The larger groups that would be housed in a community shelter, he said, would have the range of skills needed for shelter management and survival after an attack. These groups would also promote stronger feelings of security and support; communication among shelters would be simpler because there would be the basis of his community shelter plan.

Don't Be A Litterbug; Let's Clean Up Belle Glade!

Should special buildings be constructed to serve solely as "litter shelters"? "Definitely not," Fritz said. "Like the old tornado shelter which was primarily a place to store perishable food, or keep the beer cold, and only secondarily a place of refuge, a fallout shelter should have another purpose. Every effort should be made to modify existing buildings or build new ones not only to give protection from fallout but also to serve the ongoing, normal needs of the community."

Familiarity with the building he traced as a shelter would eliminate the strangeness and fear-provoking element of shelter-taking and shelter life. System planning and social realism are the keys to establishing a realistic shelter program according to Fritz.

Realistic administration and management in a nuclear attack, he believes, can only come as a national effort. Shelter taking, shelter life, and an organized response to past attack problems can only succeed if we realize the many interlocking groups and organizations in the country which provide meaning to our normal life. These groups would be the basis of his community shelter plan.
